County Budget for 1968

Tentatively Set at $1,027,572

The Warren County Commissioners on Monday discussed a tentative budget for 1968 of $1,027,572 which will be on public display for 20 days at the court house.

The budget, which reflects an increase of $35,847 over 1967's $992,085, apparently will not call for an increase in millage but will operate at the current 7

Laboratory

Addition

Slated for WGH

Artico Construction Company of Youngsville was the low bidder for construction of a 540 square foot addition to the laboratory facilities at Warren General Hospital, Robert M. Kinney, hospital administrator said Friday.

The hospital's board of directors has given final approval to proceed with the project, which was made possible by a gift from United Refining Co. The new building, 15 feet by 36 feet, will provide space for the hospital's newest piece of automated equipment—an AutoAnalyzer—the most modern instrument for the testing of patients' blood.

The addition to house the equipment will be connected to the west end of the hospital's new wing and will provide room for the blood bank as well as the AutoAnalyzer.

The use of the new machine will speed up diagnosis and beginning of treatment by performing the twelve most frequently required blood tests simultaneously in 12 minutes.

Artico Construction Company will break ground in the near future, with the building scheduled for completion in mid-summer. The AutoAnalyzer is expected to arrive at about the same time, according to Kinney.

Pollution Meeting

Open to Public

The pollution of the Conewango and what can be done about it will be the topic Dr. Kenneth Wood of Fredonia State College will discuss at a meeting to be held tonight at the court house at 8 p.m. He will use colored slides from the collection of Valentine Botka to illustrate his talk.

The meeting is co-sponsored by the Warren County Council of Sportsmen's Clubs, League of Women Voters, Lower Conewango Valley Improvement Association, Northern Allegheny Conservation Association, Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau, and the Warren County Agriculture Extension Service.

mills, the commissioners stated.

At a meeting last week in Harrisburg, the trend in other counties, indicated tax increases.

There are increased budget figures in several areas of county business in the tentative budget, the latter to be approved at 10 a. m. April 4 and submitted for state approval April 15 as required by law.

Increases are noted in salaries and other services, capital outlay, court house, planning, courts, probation and materials and supplies. Included is the $150,000 appropriation to the Rouse Home, $4,000 for tourist promotion, $1,400 for the Economic Opportunity Council and an allotment to the Northwest Regional Planning and Development Commission. The biggest bite, the commissioners noted, is in the cost of welfare services, where state mandates added to the operation. Child Welfare employees are now under civil service which tended to raise their salaries well above the general 5 per cent increase accorded other county employees.

Chairman Dr. David K. Rice said the new board starts 1968 with about $150,000 not expended in 1967 since that budget was, in his opinion, over-estimated. The sum, the commissioners' decided, represents taxpayers money and will be spent on programs to benefit taxpayers rather than invested to draw interest.

The 1968 tentative budget, Rice advised, had been "honed almost to the bone" and may be considered close to practical. He stated, however, that there might be hypothetical areas

Board Considers

Crossing Guards

Monday night meeting of Warren County School District Board concerned largely routine business.

The board approved a resolution asking the Mead Twp. supervisors to act on the appointment of school crossing guards. Such a board resolution had been requested by the supervisors. It will be withdrawn in the event of any charge to the school district.

A 90-day extension for the awarding of construction contracts for Allegheny Valley Elementary School (to cover the period from April 30, 1968, to July 20) was requested by the board. W.R. Whiteley, engineer, of Erie will develop plans for a packaged sewage treatment plant at the school.

Absent from the meeting were board members M. G. Keller, Myron Jewell, L. A. Pearson and Mrs. Robert Smith.

where figures may prove to be not entirely realistic since there is no way of ascertaining how many foster children the county will be responsible for or how court cases will be disposed of.

In other business, the commissioners approved a service contract for two years with Rodgers Clock Service of Harrisburg to service and maintain the court house clock for $85 a year. Rice said that since repairs and illumination of the landmark were costly because it had not been serviced in a considerable length of time, the commissioners felt it should now be kept in good working order.

Bills in the amount of $8,599.96 were approved for payment.

State-Mandated Traffic Lights May Cost Less

Warren borough council Monday night was advised by Karl Timm, chairman of the public safety committee that it appeared the state-mandated uniform system of traffic lights in the borough would not only be completed by the end of this year but at a cost considerably less than anticipated.

Timm stated his committee had met with a prospective bidder and it is possible that rather than an anticipated expenditure of $50,000 for traffic lights, it could be more in the realm of $15,000. Delivery and installation of poles, Timm added, might hold up the program.

Two items not listed on the agenda were presented by J.

The hospital has asked donations of the above items for Mrs. Asher to deliver when she makes the Pittsburgh trip every two weeks for the next three months. Call 436-3446 and help hundreds of children.

Fulbright Demands To Know Senate Role In Viet Escalation

WASHINGTON (AP) Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D Ark., insisted Monday that the Johnson administration define the role it will give Congress in future Vietnam war planning before the Senate considers any new foreign-aid legislation.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee virtually brandished the foreign-aid bill as a club over Secretary of State Dean Rusk as he urged Rusk to return before the committee to complete testimony on the administration's Vietnam policy.

With great reluctance, Rusk finally agreed to appear again Tuesday morning. Fulbright, calling a halt to the first day's testimony after more than six hours of dialogue between Rusk and the committee members, told the secretary: "It will be impossible to proceed with foreign aid"—the ostensible purpose of the hearing — "unless we can complete the hearings." And he made it clear he will not consider the hearing complete until he gets an answer on the Senate's role in any possible escalation of the war.

All of the 18 committee members who attended the packed hearing had questioned Rusk about the war—except Fulbright. And the chairman indicated his questioning will not be brief.

After numerous protests of a very heavy schedule and the voiced expectation "that we'd get through today," Rusk—who has avoided a public hearing on Vietnam for two years—agreed to submit to further questioning at 9:30 a.m. EST Tuesday.

His lengthy appearance Monday elicited little new information about the administration's war strategy.

US Troops Claim 78 Dead In Battle Near Tam Ky

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Americal Division troops Monday notched their second one-sided victory in South Vietnam's coastal lowlands in three days, killing 78 enemy soldiers while losing two dead in a 7½-hour battle near Tam Ky.

U.S. headquarters said 29 men of the 196th Infantry Brigade, attached to the Americal Division, were wounded in the fighting close to the provincial capital 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

On Saturday, American infantrymen killed 129 enemy near Tam Ky. No Americans were slain and only 18 were wounded in that engagement.

South Vietnamese army troops dealt a stinging blow to a 600-man North Vietnamese force just south of the demilitarized zone Sunday, killing 102 of the enemy. Three government soldiers were reported killed and 37 wounded in the eight-hour encounter five miles north of Dong Ha.

At the same time, U.S. Marines on the western end of the DMZ at Khe Sanh took a 250-round enemy artillery barrage for the third straight day. American casualties were reported light. U.S. fighter-bombers countered with attacks on Communist gun positions inside the DMZ, a former buffer zone dividing the two Vietnams.

Action in the war elsewhere continued at a slackened pace but there were apprehensions and predictions of a new outburst of enemy activity at any time and that the expected assaults would be at any point from the DMZ to Saigon itself.

Expanded Civil Rights Bill Knocks Down Racial Barriers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to the House Monday a greatly expanded civil rights bill.

As amended in the Senate, the measure includes open-housing provisions designed to "knock down racial barriers" in the sale or rental of four-fifths of the nation's housing; antiriot provisions; extended constitutional guarantees for American Indians; and federal protection for civil rights workers.

The vote on final passage, after almost two months of wrangling, was 71 to 20.

House Democratic leaders said they hope to bring the Senate measure directly to the floor for a vote, bypassing a Senate House conference committee which could become bogged down in another stalemate.

If the House accepts the Senate version the bill could be sent to President Johnson for final action.

The House passed a civil rights bill last August and a more limited housing measure in 1966.

The basic provision of the Senate's open-housing section would make it unlawful to refuse to sell or rent a dwelling, after a bona fide offer, "to any person because of race, color, religion, or national origin."

Beginning in 1970, the prohibition against discrimination would cover virtually all housing units with two exceptions: 1. Owner-occupied, single-family dwellings sold or rented without the aid of a real estate broker or agent. The exemption would be forfeited if the owner engaged in discriminatory advertising of his property, such as putting a "Whites Only" sign on his lawn.

The use of attorneys, escrow agents, title companies or other professional assistance necessary to perfect or transfer title would be permitted.

2. Boarding houses or other dwellings with not more than four family units, one of which is occupied by the owner.

Exemptions also are provided for religious organizations and private clubs that provide rooms for members on a non-commercial basis.

Speculators Feel Bullion Safer Than Paper Money

LONDON (AP) — European speculators and hoarders continued buying gold in heavy quantities Monday, still convinced that bullion is safer than paper money.

Renewed central bank warnings that the price will be kept at its present level had little apparent influence on the London, Paris and Zurich gold markets.

Nearly 10 tons of the metal were sold in London, considerably less than Friday's estimated 75 tons but high for a Monday. Demand picked up in the afternoon and dealers described business as brisk.

Paris sales were double the Friday level and reached a peak for the year of eight tons. Demand also was heavy in Zurich.

The central banks still in the seven-nation gold pool announced in Basel Sunday "their determination to continue their support" of the gold price of $35 a fine ounce, the price the U.S. government is committed to maintain.

It was noted here, however, that the Basel statement said nothing to reassure doubters about the strength of the American economy and the future of the dollar.

Most dealers believe last week's gold rush was sparked by doubt that the U.S. economy can stand the strain of a stepped-up war in Vietnam and President Johnson's "Great Society" programs—guns and butter.

They also noted that Congress in an election year appears in no hurry to cool the American economy by enacting the 10 per cent surtax requested by the administration or to remove the dollar's 25 per cent "gold cover," which is tying up some $10 billion of the Ft. Knox gold.

Speculators are convinced Washington must eventually raise the price of gold, thus devaluing the dollar in effect, or impose an embargo to halt the drain on Ft. Knox. Either way would mean big profits for gold hoarders.

The central bank statement from Basel brought a measure of stability to the foreign exchange markets and both the dollar and the pound improved.

The pound opened in London at $2.39575, against Friday's close of $2.3925. The rate dropped off slightly later in a thin market to close at $2.3955.

Tidioute Council to View Pipe Cleaning Machine

By LOIS MCCLOSKEY

Tidioute Borough Council will view a pipe cleaning machine Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. The machine, for cleaning water and sewer pipes, will be demonstrated to the council committee on public utilities and sewers on Tidioute Creek near Norton Mill.

The demonstration was arranged by George Morrison, manager of Tidioute Public Utilities System, who attended Council meeting last night and presented a sales representative of this machine, as requested by council last month.

Council voted to rent this seven horse power gear driven machine with 400 feet of cable if the demonstration proved satisfactory to Morrison and the committee.

Other business consisted of appointing Fred Barr and the Rev. George Campbell, Methodist minister, to the Tidioute Area Regional Planning Commission. Dale Storer was retained on a part time basis by the Tidioute Public Utility system.

President William Robinson announced the place of the civil defense meeting, which council members were to attend on March 20 in Franklin, has been changed to Erie on March 27 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. since this area has been designated for Warren County. Attending will be Fred Barr, Fred Benner and Robinson.

Firemen Contain Blaze In Tunnel

Clarendon Volunteer Fire Dept. was called to Kinross Dam Monday when some acetylene and oxygen bottles caught fire inside the tunnel presently under construction at the site, according to Leonard Falbriski, Clarendon fire chief.

The fire, apparently ignited by a welding arc, broke out about 8:30 a.m. Falbriski stated.

Two trucks, an emergency truck and 12 men answered the call, Falbriski reported. Firemen were able to contain the fire between the large tubing skeleton and the wall of the tunnel, he stated, preventing an explosion. Damage was confined to welding cable and wiring, according to Falbriski.

Firemen were on the scene about an hour and a half Falbriski stated, but work on the tunnel was held up for about two hours. The fire was extinguished with a high pressure booster, according to the chief.

Teachers Increase Proposed

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Republican leaders brought to the floor Monday night a bill proposing a $500 across-the-board increase for Pennsylvania classroom teachers in the 1968-69 school year.

The cost of the measure was fixed at $52.7 million.

The measure was introduced by the Republican Leadership late Monday and was released to the floor minutes later by the GOP-controlled House Basic Education Committee.

The measure, designed to ease pressure by militant teachers for higher pay, would:

— Increase the minimum starting salary from $4,500 to $5,400 in the new school year. This cost would be paid entirely by the state.

— Increase beginning the 1969-70 school year the minimum starting salary from $5,400 to $6,000. This undetermined cost would be shared by the state and local school districts and require a new state subsidy measure to be enacted by either the 1968 or 1969 General Assembly.

Rep. Donald W. Fox, R-Lawrence, chairman of the Education committee, was the prime sponsor.

The measure's initial impact was designed to appease the state's angry 90,000 classroom teachers who demonstrated a week ago on the Capitol steps in demand of higher salaries.

It left open the question of ultimate cost inherent in a $6,000 minimum salary. If the state should fall this year or next to increase its subsidies to school districts, that burden would have to be shouldered by the districts.

"We feel we can provide this money (for the $500 increase) by reallocating funds within Gov. Shafer's budget," Fox said.

"We realize this bill will have an impact in the future. We intend to do a complete study of the subsidy system to assist the districts in meeting these demands in subsequent years."

Republican Floor Leader Lee A. Donaldson Jr., R-Allegheny, immediately scheduled the measure for a vote Wednesday.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WEEK

Warren County Commissioners Monday proclaimed March 24-30 as Chamber of Commerce Week and called upon citizens of Warren County, its organizations and institutions to recognize the special week and join in its observances. It was noted the Chamber of Commerce efforts have helped make the com-

Dial 726-1600 Soon For Time, Temperature

Warren County residents will soon be able to receive the local time and temperature by telephoning 726-1600. The service, sponsored by the Northwest Savings, will be introduced March 14.

In making the announcement, John Hanna Jr., vice president of Northwest Savings, said that this system is operated by Audichron—Time and Temperature Service Corporation equipment installed at the Bell Telephone Company's East street building.

After the introduction, local customers will simply dial the number 726-1600 and receive the correct time, accurate to the minute and temperature, accurate to the degree. There are six telephone lines associated with the number to insure prompt answering of all calls.

It is estimated that there will be somewhere in the neighborhood of 4,000 calls a day to the service, Hanna added.

The time and temperatures have been pre-recorded on special tape drums that are controlled by a temperature seeking bulb on the roof of the Telephone Company Building. This bulb makes certain that the temperature report is correct. The time service is controlled by a master clock and works continually to insure that the right time is received by telephone callers.

This convenient service being offered by Northwest Savings is the first time and temperature service using this specially designed equipment to be used in the Warren area.

Area Will Benefit From Project FIND Grant

Project FIND, a federally financed program dealing with the needs of the elderly, will receive a $1 million grant and be extended for a maximum of eight more months, it was learned recently.

Warren and Forest counties are one of the 12 areas covered by the nationwide project, which is administered by the National Council on Aging (NCOA) and funded by the federal Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO). FIND has two main goals: to conduct a survey of the needs of the elderly and to fill those needs where possible.

The grant and extension were discussed at an NCOA meeting in Washington, D.C. last week attended by Donald Taft, local state liquor store is being considered. It was also stated the liquor license issued to William Anderson was classified as a hotel license.

Fred Barr announced the summer recreation program being planned for the school district for all the boys and girls of the area. Speaking for the district, he asked if council would be willing to contribute one third of the cost of the program with the school district to assume the other two thirds. The program would include summer sports with special programs in home economics for the girls. Instructors would be college students of at least two year level.

The council stated it was interested in the program and would like to have it explained more fully, and also stated they wish to have consideration of the contribution of $500 presently in the budget for the Tidioute Little League, however they would be willing to go along if details could be worked out. The program would run through three summer months starting around 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

William Karns secretary read the 1967 auditors report which was accepted by council.

Project FIND started last summer; it was originally planned to last for nine months, ending March 15. The FIND survey in this area has so far covered most of Warren and Forest counties, with Warren Borough the main area yet to be surveyed. A total of 3,349 questionnaires had been filled out as of Feb. 28. About 60 per cent of the original $60,513 cash grant for the local project has been spent so far.

Besides working on the survey, FIND staff members have provided transportation for elderly people and supplied information on medical assistance and other government and private assistance programs. They have helped set up clothing centers and distribute surplus food, bedding, wheelchairs, glasses, dentures, discount-price drugs, etc. Housing data from completed questionnaires has been given to the EOC; this information, on 341 people in Youngsville and 331 people in the Russell area, is to be used in planning housing programs. Since the beginning of the local project, 381 persons have been referred to one or more types of services; the total of older persons who have contacted the local FIND office for referral or information is 28.

Jamestown Resident Sentenced to Prison

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — A 32-year-old Jamestown man was sentenced from 15 to 30 years in Attica State Prison when he appeared in Chautauque County Court in Mayville Monday. Neal W. Warner, 427 Allen st., was convicted of first degree robbery last November by a court jury.

Warner was sentenced by Judge Edwin G. O'Connor as a second felony offender. He was convicted of second degree robbery seven years ago in Cattaraugus County.

The first degree robbery charge grew out of a hold up last Aug. 11, of the Allen Liquor store at the corner of Foote and Newland avenues. Louis J. Tuccio reported a gunman entered his store carrying a loaded pistol and made off with $70 worth of liquor after shooting a hole in the floor. Tuccio said the gunman became angry when he (Tuccio) refused to give him money from the store's cash register.

Warner was also charged with an armed holdup of Stafford's Grocery, 910 Prendergast ave. on Aug. 9, 1967, but was not tried on that charge. His companion in the twin robberies 30-year-old Louis J. Guitfreda, 58 Water st., was also charged with first degree robbery. Guitfreda is in the county jail at Mayville awaiting trial.

3 Area Men Are Charged With Larceny

Three Warren area men have been charged with larceny and a fourth with being an accessory before the fact.

Released on bail, according to borough police Sgt. Roger Thelin, the investigating officer, are Robert Dunn, RD 1, Clarendon; Charles Fiscus, 805 Lincoln ave., Warren; Burdette Thomas, Chapman Dam road and Herbert Tarbox, 2013 Pennsylvania ave. E.

Larceny charges were filed against Dunn, Fiscus and Thomas, police said. The men were all employed by Louis Segel & Son, Inc.

Harry Segel registered the complaint and stated that the firm had been losing a considerable quantity of junk from the yard at 107 S. South st. for the past year and a half. Segel told police that he noticed one employee loading his pickup truck, he checked one box and found it contained copper gun clips from the salvage yard. Another witness spotted a man throwing junk over the fence at the old Warren Gear property.

Concert Association Books Norman Luboff Choir

Warren Concert Association has booked the Norman Luboff Choir for an appearance during the 1968-69 concert season at a date to be announced later.

The Luboff group, noted for over 3 million record albums sold, will be one of four attractions for members of the association, which is starting its pre-campaign enrollment this week.

The final concert of the current season will be this Saturday night at 8 p.m. when the Reyes-Soler Ballet Espanol from Madrid appears in the high school auditorium.

Harry Summers, association president, has announced that the membership campaign will be under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Sokolski and will be held this spring instead of in the fall as in past years.

Summers said the spring campaign would make it easier to secure artists for the series, since most booking is done at this time of the year.

LUBOFF

Current members have been able to obtain membership first by mail or by bringing their checks to Saturday night's concert. When the drive is held in April, the public will be invited to join on a first-come, first-served basis until the auditorium is sold out.

Memberships to the Warren Concert Association, beginning its 21st season, are $8.50 for adults and $4.50 for students. No single admissions are ever sold.

Since the Norman Luboff Choir began touring in 1963, they have averaged more than 100 performances per concert season, a record approached by no other professional touring attraction of this kind.

It all began with records of a different sort. The popularity of this dynamic conductor, arranger, composer was initially achieved through the many recordings on both the RCA Victor and Columbia labels. The nucleus of the choir consists of 25-30 singers with an amazing repertoire that runs the gamut from Bach to the Blues.

In 1943 after service in the Signal Corps, Luboff moved to New York and there, his flourishing career as a singer was gradually eclipsed by his success as an arranger and composer for the major network programs of the day such as Your Hit Parade, the Fred Allen and Milton Berle shows and others.

In 1947 he moved to Hollywood, composed and arranged scores for 80 movies and organized his now famous choral group.

In 1958 the Luboffs and their two children moved to London for five years but came back to New York to launch the touring choir.

Warren Soldier Wins Silver Star in Vietnam

SGT. IRVINE

A 35-year-old Warren man, the father of five, has been awarded the Silver Star medal for gallantry in action while engaged in military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam.

Staff Sgt. Ronald E. Irvine Sr., son of Ralph Irvine, 209 Pennsylvania ave. E., whose wife Jeanette and five children reside at 116 Water st., was awarded the Silver Star for distinguished service as a platoon sergeant with Company

B, 1st Battalion, 35th Infantry, 4th Division on Nov. 10, 1967. According to a report for 4th Infantry Division headquarters, Sgt. Irvine and his company were moving through an area near Da Nang with the mission of setting up a blocking force when his platoon began undergoing enemy fire. Sgt. Irvine, according to the report, unhesitatingly moved forward under the intense fire and began directing his platoon to fire on the enemy positions.

He then moved throughout the battle area, administering first aid to the wounded; and although completely unprotected from the intense enemy fire, assisted in the removal of wounded personnel. Sgt. Irvine then crawled to within hand grenade range of the enemy positions and threw smoke grenades to mark the enemy's position for incoming air strikes, enabling the Air strike force to bring effective damage upon the hostile positions.

Sgt. Irvine attended Warren Area High School and has been serving in Vietnam since Sept. 17, 1967. With two years to go until his retirement from military service, Sgt. Irvine is due back from Vietnam in July.

Catholic Interracial Council Fights Alleged Discrimination

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A Catholic group fired its second shot Monday in a campaign to eliminate alleged racial discrimination in private clubs, such as the Moose, Eagles and Elks.

The Catholic Interracial Council of Pittsburgh sent letters to state officials asking the state to refuse liquor licenses to clubs that have membership rules barring nonwhites.

Letters went to the Liquor Control Board and the Governor's Liquor Code Advisory Committee.

Last May, the council asked Catholics to resign from the Moose, Eagles and Elks if they don't eliminate racial membership restrictions.

John Soboslay, council chairman, said that plea brought a "disappointing response" and said Monday's action was the second stage in the campaign.

Officials of the Elks and Moose could not be reached for comment.

Maurice Spain Jr., state secretary of the Eagles, said he would stick with the statement he issued last May in response to the first council action.

In his statement, he referred to The Rev. Donald McIlvane, a council vice president, and said: "I have been a proud and happy member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles for more than 36 years. I have been a member of the Roman Catholic Church for almost 55 years. Both have been an integral part of my life. My prime thought is that if Father McIlvane had spent as much time recruiting members for the Roman Catholic Church as I have dutifully and diligently recruited members for the Fraternal Order of Eagles, both organizations would be better off."

Soboslay said the council feels some groups should be permitted to keep their liquor licenses, even though "it appears on the surface" that they restrict membership along national and religious lines.

In this vein, he mentioned the Knights of Columbus, a Catholic fraternal group, and the Italian Sons and Daughters of America, and said:

"We can see some logic in an organization attempting to bring together people with a similar ethnic or religious background, but we see no valid reason for an organization to accept any and all people as members except nonwhites."

Soboslay said there's no evidence the action last May had any great impact. He said, "In the industrial cities of Pennsylvania, Catholics make up a good part, if not a majority, of the Moose and Eagle members, especially the Moose."

He indicated the council will take further action if the liquor license approach fails, but declined to say what future action is planned.

In response to the council letter, Joseph Work, counsel to the advisory committee, said in Harrisburg the whole picture of private club licenses is under consideration.

A spokesman for the Liquor Control Board said its letter was turned over to the legal bureau for study.

Police Investigate Three Mishaps

A Warren man escaped injury at 10:15 p.m. Sunday when, according to state police of the Warren substation, his car, traveling north on Route 62, one mile north of Akeley, ran off the right side of the highway, over an embankment and into a ditch.

The operator was identified as John E. Parsons, 43, of 17 Central ave.

Damage was listed at $250. A New Hampshire man was cited for reckless driving following a one car traffic mishap which occurred at 1:41 a.m. Monday in front of Warren City Lines office on Pennsylvania avenue E.

Borough police stated that a car driven by Heath D. Bourdon, 5 Highland rd., Claremont, N.H., traveling east struck a no parking sign on the right side of the avenue.

Damage was estimated at $500.

At 7:40 p.m. Saturday a two-car accident resulted in a Jamestown, N.Y. man being charged with failure to stop at the scene.

According to borough police officer Warren Davis, a car driven by Howard Morgan, 135 Fluvanna ave., Jamestown, slid into the rear of a car operated by Robert Charles Newman, 607 East st., Warren, which was stopped for a red light at Pennsylvania avenue E. and Elm street.

Total damage was listed at $75.

Coraopolis Man Wins Navy Cross

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Marine Cpl. Paul Grimes Jr. of Coraopolis has been given the Navy Cross for single-handedly knocking out an enemy bunker in Vietnam.

The Defense Department said Monday that Grimes was on a search and destroy mission when his squad was pinned down by enemy fire.

Grimes, 20, went forward alone and lobbed two antitank rockets into the bunker. But that didn't stop the automatic rifle fire.

So he went up a second time and shifted two hand grenades into the slits in the bunker. That did it.

Grimes' flack jacket was ripped by bullets but he was not hurt.

County School Superintendent John Mallory Jr., this year's chief administrative officer for the joint board of directors for the center which is formed from the three participating county school boards. The post has rotated each year among the three county superintendents, Mallory serving this year.

Dr. Betty Brown is director of the Center.

The facility was set up in September, 1966, by the three county school boards, to provide audio-visual and other teaching materials for all schools in the three counties.

Operations are supervised by a subcommittee composed of one representative from each county school board. The present Warren County representative is Henry Peterson, one of the nine directors of Warren County School District and one of the six member Warren County School Board. He succeeds R. K. Cyphert from Tidoute, president of the Warren County School Board and vice-president of the Warren County School District board of education, who served for nearly two years on the subcommittee of the Regional Instructional Materials Center during its formative period.

A Salute to Girl Scouts

In Savannah, Georgia, on March 12, 1912, girl scouting in the U.S. had its beginnings. The birthday commemoration of this outstanding organization is being observed this year, March 10-16, during Girl Scout Week.

Ture to its traditions of more than a half a century, the Girl Scouts have a new look. The organization is involved in helping girls understand and deal with problems of urban ghettos. Girl Scouts will have opportunities to learn more about music, dramatics, the visual arts and space exploration. There will be travel and study programs in the U.S. and abroad. The Girl Scouts offer these opportunities to all girls between the ages of 7 and 17, regardless of race, color or creed. The horizons have never been broader for young people, and the scouting movement offers an opportunity of exploring these horizons to girls who, in many cases, might otherwise not even be aware of them. There is great significance in this, for the girls of today will be the wives and mothers of tomorrow and will, in large measure, hold the responsibility of passing on the torch of civilization -- the values, the concern, the understanding and competence -- that will be so sorely needed by those who will guide the nation and the world the day after tomorrow. It's a well-deserved tribute which we pay to the Girl Scouts of the United States of America.

MASON DENISON

Legislative Budget Hearings

HARRISBURG — As legislative budget hearings on departmental requests for the coming fiscal year begin to pick up steam the question might well be asked as to whether these (ofttimes glorified) sessions are really worth their salt.

Curiously perhaps — the answer is both yes and no.

Actually these hearings fall within the "must" category — if for no other reason than that inasmuch as only the legislative branch can appropriate monies, the committee hearings provide a screening step (of sorts) before the financial requests are presented to lawmakers as a whole.

(It's bad enough when a few members on the appropriations committees try to check out fiscal facts — let alone a howling pack of 253 lawmakers all trying to be heard at once!)

The question recurs though as to the true "effectiveness" of these budget hearings.

In the first place the lawmakers who comprise the membership of these committees oftentimes are little more versed on Pennsylvania's fiscal affairs than the next lawmaker — except perhaps some of the more veteran committee members.

These members are concerned with fiscal affairs of the state — primarily and almost exclusively: (1) only when the Legislature is in session a few months each year, (2) then only a few days a week.

What then "qualifies" them to become scrutiny experts on the details and ramifications of a billion-dollar-a-year outlay of taxpayer monies? There are no "qualifications" other than that they be a member of the Legislature.

Nevertheless the fact remains that as representatives of, and a part of the legislative branch, the appropriations committees have a responsibility and a purpose; the latter being primarily, as we've already noted, a screening process before the fiscal monstrosities are dumped into the laps of all 253 lawmakers.

Is this screening effective? The answer is — not very. What usually happens is that if control of the legislative branch is in the same political hands as that of the executive branch the appropriations committees usually are inclined to go along pretty well with (allied) administration fiscal requests.

It is when one of the two legislative chambers is controlled by the opposition party (and subsequently committee chairmanships and appointments, as in the case of an appropriations committee) that the fur really flies and determined budgetary cuts become something more than hot air. This is not the case at the present time — inasmuch as both House and Senate are in administration hands.

Do the so-called appropriations committee hearings actually do any real good — under such circumstances, for example as those existing at present?

The answer is yes. In the first place they do provide an "open forum" for informing the public, which otherwise wouldn't even remotely take place.

Secondly, department heads of the executive branch must prepare detailed breakdowns of expenditures and functions for the hearings, which otherwise would only occur in an intra-bureaucratic conglomeration in a "semi" sense at best.

Thirdly the presentation of proposed budgets has its psychological effect; it is one of the few times the executive branch goes into a serious nervous-twitch — the realization being ever-present that it is the legislative branch that holds the final whip-lash (which can be invoked depending on the whim of the Legislature) regardless of whether the same party is in power in both branches.

Congressional appropriations committee counterparts in Washington are a little different — where it's virtually a year-round proposition, complete with staff, staff, staff, a point that ultimately may be reached on Pennsylvania's Capitol Hill.

WILLIAM BUCKLEY

Legal Massive Reaction?

Norman Mailer is outraged because he has been told to report to jail for five days for breaking the peace outside the Pentagon. Who knows, he may write a book about it. The American Civil Liberties Union hasn't taken up the victimization of Mr. Mailer, but that is about the only defendant on the landscape the ACLU isn't defending. Its directors have now decided to offer the Union's help to the Spock crowd who have been indicted for violating the Selective Service Law. At first, the ACLU reasoned that it had no proper business in that imbroglio, since nobody sane was exactly contending that the Selective Service Act is a denial of anyone's civil liberties. But the ACLU has a nose for publicity, and after a heated session, the majority reversed themselves.

So that in Boston, at the trial, the boys will fire their big berthas. There will be lawyers there running out of your ears, contending that to counsel disobedience of the draft is after all only a matter of free speech; that the Nuremberg precedent requires an active opposition to the war. And of course, before the trial is a half-hour long, it will be clear that the defendant is the United States of America, not Spock et al. That is the way it was choreographed all along. And the Justice Department, by waiting as long as it did, by moving as slowly as it has, walked right into the ambush.

Among the lawyers will be Mr. Louis Boudin, who will defend Dr. Spock. Mr. Boudin's clients over the years have consistently included admitted Communists, persons asserted to be Communists and such a notable Communist government as the Castro government of Cuba. When last seen socially, Mr. Boudin was attending a testimonial dinner in honor of John Abt, presumably celebrating the anniversary of the stealing of some U.S. secret or other. Mr. Abt's name does not ring a bell the way it used to do back when Whittaker Chambers identified him as a member of a spy ring.

But the chosen few know who he is. Lee Harvey Oswald, for instance — who asked the Dallas police to get in touch with Abt to defend him. Mr. Boudin has been around a long, long time. He dates back to the famous defense of the Communist Party in the petition to President Roosevelt. He is just the lawyer for Dr. Spock.

Yes indeed, it will be a great spectacle. No doubt there will be demonstrations all over the world denouncing the United States and apotheosizing the defendants. It sometimes appears as though all of Europe were practicing for such demonstrations. Last week the students rioted in Rome. There was a massive demonstration against America in Brussels, and in the Hague, and a half dozen U.S. embassies were roughed up. On the front pages of the European papers we are churned up against the United States (acct. Vietnam), Rhodesia (acct. the hanging of two common murderers), England (acct. discrimination against Kenyan Indians, but no demonstrations against Kenya acct. discrimination of its own Indians). There was a very reassuring demonstration in West Berlin a fortnight ago, or rather counter-demonstration. There they live close enough to the Communists to be grudgingly aware of America's contribution to their liberty.

But demonstrations against Red China? North Vietnam? The Soviet Union? The typical European would as soon demonstrate against Caroline Kennedy. The same day that brings the news of the massive anti-American demonstrations in the Low Countries reports Pravda's reaction to the charge of having persecuted Soviet writers. "The controversial trial of four Russians in January on charges of anti-Soviet activities was defended here today," writes New York Times correspondent Raymond Anderson, "as having been as justified as the purge trials in the 1930's that liquidated the Trotskyite opposition to Stalin."

That is a little bit like saying indignantly that contemporary anti-Semitism is justified by Hitler's persecution of the Jews in the 1940's.

Norman Mailer is the proper bard for such an age as this. The same Norman Mailer who eight days ago was urging Fair Play for Cuba, sponsor of a committee which, it transpired, Castro was personally subsidizing. He is the man to write a hundred-million words on why we should all be indignant against Lyndon Johnson, and reverential towards the Communists. It will take just about that many words to explain what's going on.

'THERE THEY GO—TAKIN' ALL THE CREDIT FOR THEMSELVES!'

DREW PEARSON

Vote Between War and Peace

WASHINGTON — The Gene McCarthy campaign, which has taken an upswing in New Hampshire, has done two healthy things.

One, it has given the people of New Hampshire a choice to vote for or against war. In the last Senate election they had a choice only between two hawks, one Republican, one Democratic.

Second, Gene McCarthy has jumped vigorously, and with both feet, on the old Joe McCarthy bugaboo of seeing communists under beds, including beds in the Far East.

This bugaboo, which stymied American foreign policy in John Foster Dulles's day, was responsible for getting us into the mess in Vietnam. It was Dulles, following the McCarthy wave of terror, who whipped up the domino theory and, to cope with it, created SEATO, now a hollow shell. Exposure of this was long overdue. Unfortunately, President Johnson's cohorts had been reviving the Joe McCarthy techniques.

Regarding point one, the last 1966 Senate election gave New Hampshire voters a choice between retired Air Force General Harrison Thyng, Republican all-out hawk, and Sen. Tom McIntyre, a Democratic hawk.

Gen. Thyng was supported by some of the far-right Texas oil money which had been battling against Lyndon Johnson in the past — $1,500 from H. L. Hunt, the Joe McCarthyite Texas oil man; $1,000 from his brother, Bunker Hunt; $1,000 from Al Hill of Dallas, a Hunt associate.

Sen. McIntyre, a Johnson moderate, and lesser of the two hawks, won.

Gene McCarthy's crackdown on Joe McCarthy's scare-monger techniques came after he found that Johnson forces were using this radio campaign commercial: "The communists in Vietnam are watching the New Hampshire primary . . . Don't vote for fuzzy thinking and surrender."

"This," said Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, "is McCarthyism," referring to the late Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin.

All this highlights the paradoxical position in which President Johnson has put himself, in which he takes a vigorous public position against so-called communism in Asia while trying to improve relations with communist countries in Europe.

On the same day that Johnson cohorts in New Hampshire were warning voters that the "communist in Vietnam are watching," Johnson's ambassador in Geneva had signed the most far-reaching pact with the Soviet Union ever reached. They agreed to cooperate in protecting non-nuclear powers.

In other words, the two chief nuclear powers, the USA and USSR, pledged to unite their nuclear weapons to protect non-nuclear nations if they were attacked. The agreement was aimed chiefly at protecting India, which fears attack from China; but it could also apply, under certain circumstances, to Italy and Germany, two allies of the United States, and to Poland and Czechoslovakia, two allies of the Soviet Union, plus various other countries.

In case after case, President Johnson has pushed toward better understanding with Russia and its one-time European satellites, and has done so with more courage than any other President. Yet at the same time, in speech after speech, he has demanded action against communists in the Far East. To some extent this has undermined his effectiveness in building bridges to communist nations in Europe. It is true there is a difference between European and Asiatic communism, and there is intense bitterness between Russia and China. But it's also true that constant pounding on the word "communism" undercuts what the President is trying to do in Europe; also keeps alive the old Joe McCarthy bugaboo among the American people.

Real fact is that what motivates the Vietnamese is nationalism, not communism. Technically and politically they are Communists. But far more important, they are nationalists. And they want to be independent of China just as much as from France, Japan or the United States. For one thousand years they have resisted Chinese domination.

Meanwhile, nationalism is also becoming the dominant factor among European communists. The Yugoslavs have successfully exerted their own nationalism in becoming independent from Moscow. The Romanians recently walked out of the Budapest Communist meeting because of their nationalism. Czech nationalism is now stirring among the new generation.

President Johnson is all too aware of these shifting developments inside the onetime rigid communist world, and LBJ has been more far-sighted than any other President in shaping American policy to meet the shifts.

ART BUCHWALD

Red Power Instead Of Black

WASHINGTON — Belsky, my Negro friend, was not impressed with the riot report that Gov. Kerner and his commission have just issued. "The trouble with the riot report," said Belsky, "is that there was no Communist threat implied in it."

"What on earth do you mean, Belsky?" I said. "Congress isn't going to act on a report that doesn't have a Communist threat in it," Belsky said.

"But there were warnings in the report of riots and turmoil unless something is done about the ghettos."

"It's not the same thing," Belsky said. "You can talk about threats, frustration, inequities, poverty, joblessness and anything you want to, but nobody is going to take notice unless you have a Communist menace thrown in somewhere."

"But that doesn't sound right," I said.

"Look, man, we're spending hundreds of millions of dollars each day out there in Vietnam to win the hearts and minds of people we don't even know or understand. Why? Because they are being threatened by communism. Every time the President goes to Congress and says 'I've got to have a few billion dollars more, or else the Commies are going to take over that poor little country,' wham — he gets the money."

"Of course, and he should. You don't want to fight communism on the shores of Hawaii, do you?" I said.

"No, sir. But what I'm trying to say is that you aren't going to get any action in this country until you can prove that the Commies are fighting to win the hearts and minds of the black people. You get that message over to Congress and they're not going to filibuster very long."

"Then you think if the Negro could prove that there is an international conspiracy to win over the Negroes to godless communism, we might start a crash program to improve the conditions of the ghettos?" I said.

"I'm sure of it. America can live with poor people, it can live with jobless people, it can even live with angry people, but it can't live with Communist people. If the Negroes say to the Establishment, 'Hey, fellows, we got a Red threat in this here ghetto and we need some dollars to straighten it out,' there would be so many Brinks trucks trying to deliver the money that there would be a traffic jam."

"It sounds good on paper, but would Congress go for it? After all, it's one thing to have a threat 10,000 miles away and help people out there to improve their standard of living. But if you start doing the same thing in your own country, you're going to get an awful lot of people mad at you."

"I dig," Belsky said. "But the best record the United States has since World War II is in helping out any country threatened with communism. When we make a commitment to a country to prevent it from going Communist, we honor it, no matter how much money it's going to cost. Now if the Negroes and the white dogooders would stop talking about all the social ills in the ghettos, and just harp on the theme that all the black people in this country want is to keep from going Communist, the white people are going to take a second look at this problem."

"It probably would make them sit up," Belsky said. "You bet your life it would make them sit up. You go to Congress during an election year and talk about 'Red Power' instead of 'Black Power' and even George Wallace is going to be scared."

"Belsky, you may have hit on something. As a white American, I have nothing against black ghettos, but I sure wouldn't want to live in a country with Red ghettos."

"It's understandable," Belsky said. "Nobody wants to have a Commie living next door."

Should You Speculate

If you had bought a cotton futures contract (100 bales) last September, putting down only a $500 "deposit" for the cotton, and you had sold this contract on Dec. 1, you would have made a profit of $4,000. But if you had held your cotton contract until mid-January, all of this profit would have been wiped out.

If you had bought a silver futures contract (10,000 ounces) last April you would have paid $1.37 an ounce. If, though, you had sold this silver contract in late December, at $2.30 an ounce, and sold it on Feb. 1, your loss would have been $3,500.

If you were among the thousands of amateurs who jumped into the market for palladium (the "poor man's platinum") in late January, and bought a 100-ounce palladium contract with a "deposit" of only $1,400, then sold the contract on Feb. 1, your loss would have amounted to $1,400. As one New York commodity expert notes: "Amateur speculators rushed into the market for palladium, pushed the price way up and a lot of them lost their shirts."

If you are among the uncounted numbers of Americans who are joining or considering joining the rush into commodities, here are vitally important warnings and guidelines from Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith:

The ordinary investor should NOT speculate in commodity futures for two key reasons:

1. Commodity futures contracts are traded on a "margin" (deposit), typically around 10 per cent of the value of the contract. It is just as risky for the ordinary investor to trade commodities on such a slight margin as it would be for him to buy stocks on such a margin, if he could do so.

2. The commodity market is not a market for investment. Rather, it is a market for purely speculative funds, funds a speculator can afford to lose, without any danger to his overall financial security. In order even to enter the commodity markets, insists Merrill Lynch, you should have at least $10,000 in "pure risk capital," an amount the vast majority of Americans do not have. Today, most small-time commodity traders actually lose money because they do not start out with enough capital.

To speculate in commodities, you also must have a "cold" investment personality, a willingness to recognize mistakes which any speculator inevitably makes and a philosophical attitude about selling out at a loss. Failure to limit losses by selling on time is another major reason why so many commodity speculators lose money.

You must thoroughly understand the degree of risks involved in trading commodity futures. Profits in commodity trading can be huge, considering the small sums you actually put down. But losses also can be huge because of drastic fluctuations in prices. You are not protected as you are in stocks by long-term upward price trends. Rather, for any given commodity, price trends are set on a month-to-month and year-to-year basis.

If you attempt to open a new account at a top brokerage firm such as Merrill Lynch solely to speculate in commodities, the firm may well turn down your request. Even if you already have an account and want to trade in commodities, Merrill Lynch will refuse to handle your trading unless it is convinced you understand and can easily afford the risk and unless it is assured you are not committing more than a fraction of your assets to commodities.

However, you still may insist on getting into the commodity markets, as many are insisting today. Tomorrow's column, therefore, will outline basic do's and don'ts.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son Henry is a good boy. He is not brilliant, but he has never flunked and has to work hard for those C grades. Unfortunately his older brother was not only a top student but a fine athlete. I am sure Henry feels he cannot compare with his brother, and this is part of the problem. Several months ago Henry began to "miss" getting haircuts. He made excuses from time to time and suddenly it occurred to me that his hair was longer than his sister's. My husband became increasingly irritated over the boy's long hair and last night he ordered Henry to get a haircut right after school or not come home.

Well, Ann, Henry showed up tonight for dinner with his head completely shaved. He looks ghastly! I didn't realize his head was so bumpy and misshapen. I am angry with my husband because he threatened the boy into doing this foolish thing. He says, "It's only hair. It'll grow back." Please say something that makes sense. I need it.—HEART-BROKEN MOM

DEAR MOM: It's only hair. It'll grow back. And when it does, tell your husband not to make an issue of it and he'll have less trouble over the things that are really important.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing in regard to the girl who wanted to know if she should tell her fiancé about an affair she had a few years earlier. The girl should thank her lucky stars it was only an "affair."

Vic and I went steady for seven months and I was so sure he planned to marry me that I let myself go completely. When I told Vic I was pregnant he said, "Gee, that's a shame," and announced he had spontaneously fallen in love with someone else. I haven't seen him since that night.

I am on the heavy side naturally and nobody can tell I am in my sixth month. I've dated some nice fellows and one of them is getting serious about me. I know I MUST tell him the truth but I dread it and keep putting it off. What advice do you have for me?—I'VE GOT A SECRET

DEAR GIRL: You've got more than a secret, Toots, and you'd better tell the young man immediately in plain, everyday language. If you keep putting it off you may find yourself asking him to drive you to the hospital in the middle of a movie.

At any rate, the upcoming situation will prove a real test. If he stays around after he hears the news he's a true gem and you should consider yourself a very lucky girl.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is more of an annoyance than a problem but I'd appreciate an answer.

My Aunt Bessie is a lovely woman but she has a habit that drives me batty. When someone speaks to her she says, "Wait a minute, I can't hear you." Then she puts on her glasses and says, "There, that's better."

Does she actually think that putting on her glasses will improve her hearing? Please comment.—RUTHIE

Purim Festival Begins At Sundown Tomorrow

Dr. Kurt L. Metzger, rabbi of Temple Beth-El, has issued the following statement at the occasion of the Purim Festival to begin at sundown, Wednesday.

The defeat of Haman will be celebrated in Synagogues and homes throughout the world with the advent of Purim.

As told in the Biblical Book of Esther, the Purim story deals with the attempt of Haman, vizier of Persia, to have all men bow down to him. All complied except Mordecai whose Jewish faith forbade him to kneel to anyone but God.

Hailed as the perfect short story, the scriptural narrative tells how Esther, cousin of Mordecai, is elevated to the queenship in a beauty contest and intervenes with King Ahasuerus to save her people threatened with annihilation by the despotic Haman.

Purim is celebrated by special worship services which stress religious liberty. The theme is also stressed in the liturgy and the music of the day. During the Service the Book of Esther is read from the Megillah (scroll). The holiday is also marked by gift-giving, mock beauty contests, costume balls, bazaars and dramatizations of the story.

The holiday lasts one day. It is not regarded as a major festival calling for abstention from work. The word, Purim, is Hebrew for "lots", referring to the manner in which Haman decided the day on which he had hoped to destroy the Jews.

Illustrative of the Purim liturgy is this passage from the Union Prayer Book: "Strengthen us to combat prejudice, injustice and oppression when they strike not only against us but men of whatever race or belief. Let not divisions of blood and faith create distrust and strife. Thus shall we be united in a one covenant of brotherhood and peace. Amen."

Dr. Boriosi

Lacy Speaker

The Lacy PTA will have a meeting this evening. The speaker will be Dr. Guido Boriosi from the Warren State Hospital staff. He will discuss the latest research methods in dealing with the "Mental Health Problems of Children". He will also show a film in conjunction with his talk, entitled "Fears of Children". As parents, all should be interested in how to cope with such possible problems.

Dr. Boriosi attended the Jefferson Medical School in Philadelphia, and served his internship at Harrisburg Polyclinic. He is now completing his second year at the Warren State Hospital.

Preceding the meeting, there will be the usual room visitation at 7:30 p. m. At the business meeting the report of the nominating committee will be given. The program follows. There will be no meeting in April.

Foot-saving Education

How can I give my feet a "shoe break"?

Our fast paced life of today can catch up with the healthiest human being. Long hours of standing, working, and even the carefree recreation hours make heavy demands on legs and feet.

A "shoe break" is one of the answers to fatigue. Like a coffee break, a change of shoes lifts the spirits and certainly gives a fresh, lighter feel to those on-the-go feet. Ladies might start out the day with a soft-lined slipper, allowing feet to wake up from the night's sleep. The new daytime shoes with their flatter heels lead into the day and go anywhere in town, from office to supermarket. A change into a slightly higher heel — maybe one of the snappy sling backs — for lunch is a good idea, for fashion and for your feet's sake. Whenever time permits, add to the benefits of your "shoe break" by placing your feet on a stool, desk or sofa. This aids circulation and helps relax foot and leg muscles. Proper fit is vital to healthy feet, and a shoe break is a true break for feet.

The bidding:
West North East South
Pass 1♥ Pass 1♠
Pass 2♦ Pass 2NT
Pass 3NT Pass Pass

West threw away the rule book in selecting an opening lead against South's three no trump contract; however, his choice was based on a logical line of reasoning and proved to be a lethal thrust.

West realized that inasmuch as he had a reasonably good hand himself, his partner could not be counted on for very much. The bulk of the defensive commitment, therefore, must be produced from his own resources. It would be necessary then to rely on the heart suit to develop the setting tricks, and the issue reduced itself to a question of which card to select for the opening assault.

North was marked with four or five hearts for his bid, so that the other players rated to be short in that suit. If all of the outstanding heart honors were in the dummy, then the defense might as well abandon hope. However, if one of the other players held a high heart, it might be important to prevent that card from hindering development of West's suit.

West decided to lead the king of hearts. South put up the ace from dummy and took a club finesse. West was in with the king and continued with the jack of hearts to pin down the ten. South ducked but, when West continued with the nine, the queen was played and declarer led a diamond. West was in against with the ace, and he cashed the eight and seven of hearts to set the contract.

Observe that, if West makes the normal lead of the fourth best heart, declarer can win the trick in his hand with the ten and proceed to develop nine tricks with no strain. The jack of hearts would have been just as effective a choice as the king in the present case; however, if South had the singleton queen of hearts — then West must lead the king in order to profitably develop the suit.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 12, 1968:

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—That old slogan, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again" is extremely applicable now. You have better than ordinary influences backing you but YOU must cooperate.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Put some sparkle into this day. It's your turn to give others (and yourself) a fresh "lift," incentive. No matter yesterday's success; go for more, soundly.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Don't scatter your energies as you keep the ball rolling. Things are not as difficult as they may seem. Confer with others on decisions of mutual concern.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Some recurrent issues? Certain problem areas? Dignity and poise will win attention, and proceeding from there, you have the floor. Stress efficiency.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Don't wait for someone else to encourage you; spur yourself a little further—and harder than previously. Substantial gains will reward your efforts.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Erase slate for a clean, fresh beginning, even though old matters carry over. In this manner, you can brighten your outlook, will be more responsive to enlightened viewpoint. Curb impatience.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Focus ambitions on an attainable plateau. Don't strive for the unreasonable.

Arbitration scheduled? Engage in it, quietly, purposefully.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Pay what you can of what you owe, in time, talents, obligations; keep debts to a minimum, but don't fear to try out reasonable experiments.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Mixed influences. Don't be caught in a tide of vacillation; be resolute, firm. Move on to well-earned gains. Maintain contact with helpful persons.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Poise and perseverance are two requirements now. Choose the most appropriate goal and plan for its achievement carefully.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—If you get the right start and maintain an even pace, you will pile up numerous gains. Don't accept new offers heedlessly, however.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Don't head into complications; steer a clear course. Speak softly but with decision. You are qualified to give more than an ordinary assist.

YOU BORN TODAY: Reasoning things out, intelligent deduction, aiming to get all sides to agree for the total good are high points of this normally industrious, orderly individual. Your intuition and sympathy are above par. Many doctors, nurses, companions, mathematicians, musicians, statesmen and teachers were born under Pisces. Your fields of choice for work or useful pastimes are wide. Never stop studying; there's no end to the advancement you can make—at any age.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

(c) 1968 by The Chicago Tribune

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

CAPITALIZING ON SMALL SIZE

When dwarfism is caused by a glandular disorder, growth may be stimulated with a pituitary hormone obtained from humans; material from animals does not work. Treatment must be started at an early age, before the child's potential for growth is completed. The major stumbling block is that human growth hormones are in short supply. The fresh pituitary gland of a human corpse supplies the daily needs of only one youngster.

According to Dr. John Money, Johns Hopkins medical psychologist, the dwarf encounters many social problems as a child and as an adult. This situation will continue unless researchers find a way to increase our supply of growth hormones.

When the short child is treated according to size, not age, he may respond by acting like an infant or an immature person. Infantile behavior has many drawbacks as the child grows older. Those who rebel against codling may suffer from neurotic tendencies.

Dwarfs get along best by capitalizing on their size (less than five feet). Those who develop the Tom Thumb or mascot attitude thrive on being well known because they are tiny. The situation is perfect when their environment is such that they are able to function despite short stature. A sense of humor and enough cleverness to counteract teasing or name calling further enhance their lot in life.

A realistic approach is attained when mother and dad have not overprotected the youngster. It is also wise to tell him the truth about the possibility of being shorter than average. Counseling by an expert helps the parents and their tiny offspring. For example, the youngster should dress according to age, not size, even the clothing must be custom made. Parents never should lie about his age. If possible, avoid situations that might cause embarrassment.

TOMORROW: "Will, Work, Success."

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

BREAST INFLAMMATION

F.D. writes: What can be done about chronic mastitis in an 18-year-old girl?

REPLY

When the condition is mild, hot applications and proper support of the breasts may be helpful. In more severe cases, simple excision and drainage may be needed. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet which describes this condition.

ITCHING IN MOUTH

B.B.W. writes: What would cause itching in the mouth, especially under the tongue? Sometimes the sensation lasts for a few minutes; other times, an hour.

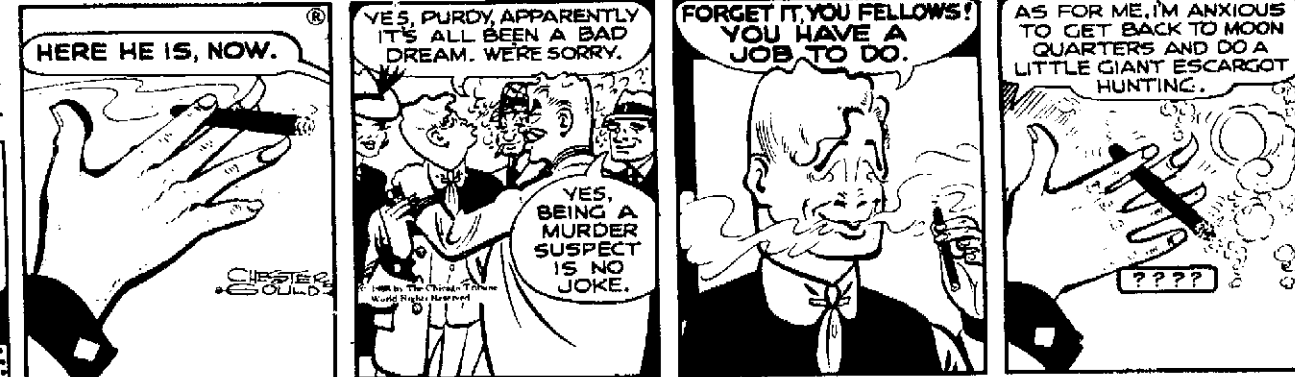

REPLY

The salivary glands are located under the tongue and it is conceivable that irritation by certain chemicals or foods is producing this sensation.

Laurel Rips Donora For WPIAL, Class A Crown

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Laurel Highlands survived a flood of first half turnovers and rode another brilliant performance by Wilbert Robinson to crush previously unbeaten Donora 74-53 Monday night and win its first WPIAL Class A basketball championship.

The Mustangs, ahead by only three points at the half, turned the game into a rout in the second half as the smaller Dragons stopped hitting and Laurel Highlands rarely gave them the second shot.

Bigger Laurel Highlands dominated the rebounding 54-30, including a 40-19 margin after the first period, and that was the story of the game.

Robinson grabbed 16 rebounds, Jim Hobgood 12 and Ed Harrison 11.

Robinson, who put the Mustangs ahead for good shortly before halftime, finished with 35 points although he was held without a field goal until the second quarter. That gave him a four-game tournament total of 113 points.

Hobgood added 18 points and Harrison 10.

Warren's Dave Cobb Honorable Mention

Ed O'Neil, Warren Area High School's sophomore ace, has been named to the first Section II basketball All-Star team.

Voting for the conference team was conducted among the eight Section II head coaches by the Oil City Derrick, who announced the selections yesterday.

Senior Dave Cobb received an Honorable Mention on the team, the only other Dragon named.

Joining O'Neil on the first team were Titusville junior Jim Romaniszyn, the top vote-getter, senior Tom Griffin and junior Dennis Cholok of Section II champion Meadville and Rocky Grove's Joe Acker, a senior.

O'Neil and Cholok were the tallest first team selections at 6-3 and Griffin, a 5-7 playmaker, was the shortest.

Second team selections were Fred "Tiny" Schwab, of Corry, Franklin's Tim Law, Stan Zadrozny of Meadville, Steve Hampton of Titusville and Cranberry's Paul Mills. Schwab is a junior, the other four are seniors.

Eight conference players received Honorable Mentions.

O'Neil was the most consistent performer on a Dragon team that finished in a three-way tie for fourth place in Section II with a 6-8 record and posted an 8-13 overall season mark.

"Steady Eddie" scored a total of 300 points in 22 Warren contests, a 13.6 average and tenth best in the county. He finished fourth in the Section II scoring race with 229 in 14 games, a 16.4 average.

His highest scoring performance of the season came on February 2 against Franklin, when he hit 11 field goals and four three throws for 26 points. He scored 20 or better on three other occasions and hit double figures a total of 15 times.

O'Neil was the team's leading rebounder and made his presence known on defense. The big sophomore was also a grid star for the Dragons during the past season, starting all nine games at quarterback and defensive safety.

Both he and Cobb had earned starting roles after the season was underway. Cobb sparked the Dragons to six victories in nine games midway through the conference race that kept the Blue and White in contention.

He totaled 189 points for the season, his high was a 23-point night against Rocky Grove on February 9. He scored in double digits in nine games.

Titusville's Romaniszyn led the Rockets to second place in the Section II race. An all-around performer, he was runner-up in conference scoring with 259 points, an 18.5 average.

Acker won the conference scoring crown with 277 points, 19.8 per outing, despite the fact that Rocky Grove finished last in the conference.

Griffin and Cholok were two reasons that Meadville repeated as Section II champions. The former scored 215 points in conference play and the latter tallied 197.

Meadville led on the ballot with three players on the first two teams, Rocky Grove placed three on the overall list, Warren, Titusville, Corry, Franklin, Cranberry and Oil City all had two cagers named.

Sheffield CC Will Hold Trout Contest

A program to promote Sheffield as a trout fishing center has been announced by the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce. To be known as "The Luckiest Fisherman" contest, the project is directed towards attracting attention to the fact that Sheffield is surrounded by the finest types of mountain trout streams which are heavily stocked with brook, brown and rainbow trout. Announcement of the proposed contest is being mailed out this week by Bob Holmes as a part of his "Kinza Country Report" to over 50 newspapers, outdoor writers, radio and TV stations. All in the Tri-state area.

The official announcement by the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce reads:

Attention, trout fishermen. How would you like to spend the opening weekend of the trout season as a guest of the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce?

Well, all you have to do to be considered for this unique opportunity is to write your name and address on a post card and mail it to the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce, Sheffield, Pa.

And this is truly a unique opportunity. For Sheffield is located in the heart of the Allegheny National Forest, surrounded by over four hundred miles of the finest mountain trout waters in the state. Waters that are stocked heavily by the U.S. Department of the Interior and the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

To be known as "The Luckiest Fisherman" contest, the selected angler and a companion of his choice will be hosted by the Sheffield community on April 13 and 14. In addition to the many things planned to add to their enjoyment during the stay, the visiting fishermen will be accompanied on the stream by expert anglers having complete knowledge of the local streams and fishing techniques that will bring success.

Entry cards must be received by the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce no later than April 1, 1968.

Conservation education should be a part of every school program. It can also be a community project. People young and old should learn that they can help fight water and air pollution, litter and waste."

The Wildlife Week observance was first proclaimed by President Roosevelt in 1938. It is LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Westley Unseld, the two-time All-American, said Monday he will not compete in the Olympic Trials because he is basketball weary.

Unseld said it would be a great honor to compete in the trials to select the United States team for the Games in Mexico but, "I'm weary."

No Solution in Sight For Traffic Jams

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A transportation specialist had some advice Monday for commuters who get trapped twice a day in rush-hour traffic jams: Learn to live with them. There's no solution in sight.

"The mere magnitude of the problem assures the accuracy of that statement," said John R. Moore, president of the aerospace and systems group of North American Rockwell Corp. He was the keynote speaker at the Third International Conference on Urban Transportation.

Corry Bypass Deteriorating Already

The Franklin office of the Pennsylvania Highway Department is working to come up with the answer as to what caused the Corry Route 6 bypass to start concrete-scaling four months after traffic was allowed on it.

Deterioration of the half-million dollar section of new pavement which carries Route 6 around the north edge of Corry was brought to the department's attention February 10.

Robert Hetherington of the department's office in Harrisburg said three possible reasons for the deterioration are being checked.

They are a chemical problem through the use of salt as a deicer; the possibility that the linseed oil treating agents might have been washed off too quickly by rains and the possibility the concrete finishing done on certain sections might have been faulty.

Hetherington elaborated on the third point by saying the department understood the finishers on the concrete were from the building construction trade and might not have been fully familiar with the finishing of concrete for highway use.

Infant Dies in Fire

WESTFIELD, N.Y. (AP) — Paul Hebner, 1, died Sunday when fire destroyed his family's two-story home.

The Chautauque County sheriff's office said Paul's father, Charles Hebner, attempted to rescue the infant but was forced back by flames. The child died in a crib in a second-floor bedroom.

The Hebners have three other sons, twins Charles and Carl, 8, and Donald, 2.

The cause of the fire wasn't known.

in the cities," he said, pointing to new freeways, mass transit systems and traffic spotting helicopters.

"But we would be unrealistic to think of eliminating rush-hour congestion as a major factor in urban transportation planning—at least as long as we only stagger working periods by two hours, and so many people resist the use of riding pools," he said.

Moore explained how officials at one North American Rockwell plant had learned that each car carried an average of 1.3 employees to the plant. After an intense campaign encouraging the use of car pools, the figure rose to 1.6 per cent.

Commuters' affection for the advantages of their personal cars "is going to require that we keep it with us for a long time."

As an example of how far off are permanent answers to rush-hour jams, Moore discussed electric cars—a proposed solution to the noxious fumes which swell up along the nation's superhighways.

"The pure electric car, with characteristics capable of satisfying today's motorists is not yet in sight, either technically or economically," he said. He estimated it would take as much as 25 years for a complete change-over from electric to gasoline vehicles, even if the electric cars were feasible right now.

But he pointed out that solutions are in sight. A cross between the electric and gasoline cars could cut down pollution and could even be equipped with a sensing system that would move the car automatically when the car in front moves. This could speed up long lines of traffic.

He urged delegates to attack urban transportation problems by concentrating on a balance between all phases—such as laws to complement new systems.

"I feel there is much that can be done to solve our traffic jams," said Moore.

He said he was referring mainly to regulating traffic flow on existing streets and highways. But he added, "until people are required by law they are going to keep insisting on their God-given right of self-determination."

Asked to explain, he said, "I always refer to (Transportation) Secretary (Alan S.) Boyd's allegation that we may someday need starting times on freeways, just as we have starting times on golf courses."

"The situations in our cities are frightening," said Moore. "Because despite our efforts to date they seem to be worsening dramatically."

Shrine Club Schedules Annual Stag Dinner

A highlight of the annual calendar of the Warren County Shrine Club is its Stag Oyster Dinner, scheduled this year for March 21 at St. Paul's Recreation Center in Saybrook.

Members of the local club and nobility from clubs in Erie, Clarion, Buffalo and Jamestown, N.Y., as well as Ridgway and Bradford, are expected to attend.

The oyster dinner has, for a number of years, been directed by Ralph Theodore, who finds the best oysters on the east coast and prepares them with sauces and condiments.

The fare features oyster cocktail with Ralph's special sauce, oyster stew prepared with gallons of whole milk and pounds of butter, fried oysters, french fries, cole slaw, butter and rolls and relishes—all a person can eat for $4.50.

Tickets will be on sale to the membership of the Shrine Club and reservations must be made no later than March 18 by mail to Chairman Ralph Theodore, 706 Conewago ave., Warren, or by calling 723-9133.
